↑ GYM SPACE
by Mattia Pareschi

This unique range sees a new fitness concept seamlessly integrated into the bathroom. Its focal point is the reinterpretation of gym wall bars, which double as towel rails and provide a framework to secure components such as shelves, lighting, sinks, benches and storage units. The modular design can be tailored to different spaces, and is available in either anthracite or a natural wood effect. Gym Space, price on request, by Mattia Pareschi, for Scavolini, scavolini.design

← 'SYSTEM' TAP
by Arik Levy

A collaboration between designer Arik Levy and Parisian manufacturer THG, the 'System' customisable mixers and levers are available in 26 colours and feature a series of truly original inlays in metal or stone, left smooth or engraved with diamond or canvas patterns. We love the contrast between the brown bronze finish and the patterned Howlite marble of the model pictured here. 'System' tap, from £1,395, by Arik Levy, for THG, thg-paris.com

→ THE NEW CLASSIC
by Marcel Wanders

As its name suggests, Marcel Wanders' latest offering focuses on reworking traditional bathroom principles and blending them with contemporary flair. Part of Laufen's ongoing exploration of its unique SaphirKeramik material, the range covers cabinets, sinks and mirrors with ceramic frames, all sporting 'sinuous and feminine' forms and ultra-thin profiles made possible by the use of the innovative ceramic. 'What we have sculpted in this collection is a poetic experience,' says Wanders. 'The bathroom is a place reserved for relaxation and true peace. Therefore the design of everything plays a crucial role in making the connection with the human spirit in this intimate, private space.' The New Classic collection, price on request, by Marcel Wanders, for Laufen, laufen.com
